AN APPEAL TO THE G.A.R.

Let Every Comrade Do What He Can to Build Up the Sons of Veterans.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION OF IN-DIANA, SONS OF VETERANS, JONES-BORO, IND., Oct. 19, 1899.

Circular Letter No. 1.

DEAR COMRADE: At this time there is no Camp of Sons of Veterans in your city.

We know of no good reason why this state f affairs should continue

We believe it is to the best interests of the G.A.R. as an organization and to its mem-ters as individuals to organize an S. of V. amp in your city at once.

There are many reasons why you as conrades should aid us in this work; when you have a live Camp of Sons of Veterans coated in your city in close proximity to your Post, you will find an organization of young men banded together for the pur-pose of keeping green the memories of the conrades who sacrificed so much that the life of the Nation might be preserved.

An organization banded together for the purpose of aiding worthy members of the G.A.R., and all honorably discharged Union soldiers; to extend aid to the dis-abled and helpless, the widows and orphans, to perpetuate the memory of the heroic dead and to aid in the proper ob-servance of Memorial Day; an organization banded together for the purpose of teaching and exemplifying patriotism, not alone among their own membership, but among all the people of our beloved land You no doubt have in your Post room, as many others have, priceless treasures and relics of war. Who is better qualified to care for these valuable articles after you old veterans have answered the last roll call than your sons? Who can more rev call than your sons? Who can more rev-erently commemorate your virtues, your patriotism, your sufferings, and your achievements than your own sons? Who can more forcibly engrave on the minds of the American people the importance of your sacrifices and achievements than your own boys, to whom you have been iving object lessons of patriotism from he time they first gazed on methor cart. living object lessons of patriotism from of the G.A.R. to the place of honor in the time they first gazed on mother earth New York Dewey parade.

Have you as a comrade given our Order the careful consideration and encourage-ment that it ought to receive at your hands? Have you ever talked with your sons regarding this matter, and endeavored to impress them with the importance of their identifying themselves with our Order? No doubt many of you have, and we now earnestly appeal to you to talk with them again and often on this subject until they again and often on this subject until they fully awaken to a full sense of their duty toward this Order and yours, the G.A.R. The right to become a member of the Sons of Veterans comes to them as a price-less heritage, which they should hold most sacred, and they should not consider it a mere privilege but a most sacred duty to identify themselves with this organization. Send us the names of some of the energetic sons in your city, men of worth and integrity, who will take up the matter with ou, and let us see in how short a time we an have an active, energetic, patriotic, oyal Camp of Sons of Veterans in your

Since the re-election of Ada B. Johnson at Convention held in Des Moines, lowa, in August last, the Order has taken new strength and activity. The day pre-ceding the Convention two Unions—ere organized in Des Moines, one with 40 and the other with 60 members. The joint installation of their officers was a pleasing feature of the first campfire. Since that time three new Unions at large have been organized, and two others in the Department of Ohio. The Department of Ohio met in Con-vention Oct. 24 at Jackson, O. Mary E.

Mish, of Fremont, was elected State President. National President A. B. Johnson was in attendance, and was well pleased with the Convention and the report of the past year's work. On her return trip she visited the banner Union of the State, located at Akron, where the sisters tendered her a reception and banquet.
